

Kitten and Puppy Plant Sunflowers by the Sea

A SharkBoat AI Storybook

At sunrise bright, the friends set out,
With seeds and shovels all about.
They smiled and sang by shore and spray,
To plant sunflowers near the bay.

The kitten dug a cozy bed,
The puppy patted soil with care.
They tucked each seed and whispered low,
'Grow tall, dear flowers, reach the air!'

The waves went shush, the gulls flew by,
The sun climbed high in a golden sky.
They watered rows from a shiny pail,
And watched the tiny sprouts set sail.

A breezy puff went whoosh, whoosh, whoosh,
The little sprouts began to blush.
The puppy danced, the kitten clapped,
As sunlight warmed each leafy cap.

Day by day the stems grew tall,
Like sunny banners in a hall.
They leaned and laughed beside the sea,
So proud of what their hands could be.

Then buds turned bright with yellow light,
A cheerful row, a joyful sight.
The petals opened, wide and free,
Like tiny suns beside the sea.

They gathered seeds from every flower,
And shared their joy in golden hour.
The setting sun wore pink and gold,
And made their happy story glow.

At bedtime time, beneath the glow,
They waved goodnight and whispered low.
Their flower dreams shone soft and bright,
And seashell stars kept watch till night.