Pippa Spider’s Rainy Halloween

A SharkBoat AI Storybook

Pippa Spider loved Halloween night.
She dreamed of trick-or-treating with the children in costumes.

But when Pippa looked out, she sighed.
Rain was tapping softly on the dark yard.

Pippa did not want to miss the fun.
So she put on her tiny yellow raincoat and a little orange umbrella hat.

She climbed down the porch rail and onto the path.
Splash, splash went her little boots through the puddles.

Soon she met a kitten in a witch hat.
Together they hurried under a big leaf like a shared umbrella.

At the first house, a kind child smiled.
The child gently dropped a tiny candy corn into Pippa’s bucket.

More neighbors waved from dry porches.
Pippa collected treats, and her bucket jingled sweetly.

When the night grew sleepy, Pippa went home.
She drank warm cocoa and smiled, happy that rainy Halloween had been kind.
