Back to School, Sunny Pup

A SharkBoat AI Storybook

The last summer sun was soft and warm. Sunny Pup hugged the day a little longer, because school was coming soon.

On the first morning back, Sunny Pup felt a tiny sigh inside. Summer had been full of splashy games, sleepy naps, and sticky ice cream treats.

The school bell rang, and the hallway buzzed with happy voices. Sunny Pup shuffled in slowly, wishing the sunny days could stay.

In class, there were crayons, books, and a cheerful new story. Sunny Pup listened quietly, but the heart still felt a little sleepy for summer.

Then came recess, and there were wagging tails and friendly waves.
Sunny Pup saw old pals and felt a warm little spark.

They played tag, shared snacks, and laughed in a sunny circle. The day felt brighter when everyone played together.

By afternoon, Sunny Pup realized something sweet. Summer was missed, but friends were missed just as much.

That night, Sunny Pup curled up and smiled in the dark. School was nice after all, because friends made every season feel warm.